Why are we doing this?

Since Haiti was plunged into its present crisis, the global governments and communities have struggled to accomplish so much of what they had pledged at the time of the 2009 earthquake. However, a few individuals, churches, and community organizations have sustained their commitment to Helping Haiti Heal and Have Hope.

GAMI and PACE are joining hands to pull together the Caribbean community under GAMI; Africans from the continent and Africans in the US under PACE Ministries; African-Americans under Rosedale Park Baptist Church; and welcoming all individuals of good will who would join us as we do our share in Helping Haiti Heal and Have Hope.

Helping Haiti Heal and Have Hope Helping Rebuild Lives After Disaster —Project Joseph

Great Adventure Ministries, through the generosity of several mission teams from the US, is helping to rebuild the lives of the suffering people in Haiti after the MOST DEVASTATING DISASTER IN HISTORY. After helping to alleviate the trauma—especially of the children—the present focus is providing housing for the more than 800,000 still living in tents. The PACE/Project Joseph mission will contribute to this noble initiative. The goal is to provide houses for two families.
